

FOOD FOR PEACE ROHINGYA RESPONSE

On August 25, 2017, violence in Burma's Rakhine State prompted more than 725,000 people to flee to neighboring Bangladesh. See how USAID's Office of Food for Peace is responding to the humanitarian crisis in Cox's Bazar District.

HUMANITARIAN NEEDS

More than 900,000
refugees and 336,000
Bangladeshis in need in Cox's Bazar District

new arrivals since August 25, 2017

At least 80%
of refugees rely on life-saving assistance

ALL
refugees are in need
of food assistance

OUR RESPONSE

~$108 Million in FY 2018 for:

EMERGENCY FOOD ASSISTANCE:

rice, pulses and oil for refugees through general food distributions

FOOD VOUCHERS:

to allow refugees access to a wider range of nutrient-rich foods from local markets

CASH TRANSFERS:

to host communities to support the social & economic empowerment of women; to refugees for disaster risk reduction food-for-work activities

U.S. IN-KIND FOOD AID:

to prevent & treat acute malnutrition; support for life-saving nutrition services

COMPLEMENTARY SERVICES:

for food and nutrition sector coordination, logistics and capacity building activities

